New York Dry Goods Market-Jan. 28

The most important feature in the dry goods trade is the reduction in the price of goods trade is the reduction in the price of apoel cotton; in fact of a raising market for raw material, and continued high premium in gold. All imported spool thread is now reduced to 90c; domestic is selling at 80c, but for other staple styles of cottons the prices are generally well maintained, alshough the demand in general is very difficult.
